ROSWELL, NEW MEXICO, MONDAY EVENING, MAY 16, 1910

NUMBER 62

HYDE, LIFE SENTENCE

Kansas City, Mo., May 16.—Dr. B. C. Hyde was found guilty at 10:25 this morning of murdering Colonel Thomas H. Swope. His punishment was fixed by the jury at life imprisonment.

"Oh, Clarke," cried Mrs. Hyde when the verdict was read by Judge Latshaw. She threw her arms around her husband's neck and wept silently. Then she patted him on the cheek.

Mr. Hyde sat pale and motionless. He looked firmly at Judge Latshaw while the verdict was being read. As the words "imprisonment in the state penitentiary during his natural life," were pronounced, his eyes turned to the floor.

"Don't worry, dearie," said his wife as she clasped him in her arms. Mrs. Popkin and Miss Laura Hyde, the sisters of the physician, were much distressed but tried to comfort Mrs. Hyde.

"I haven't lost hope," declared Dr. Hyde.

Within ten minutes after the verdict was returned in open court, the physician was on his way to his cell. Mrs. Hyde was extremely weak and remained in the court room for some time. Mrs. Logan C. Swope was not in the court room when the jury reported.

The physician will be sentenced in open court Thursday or Friday. The law allows the defense four days in which to file a motion for a new trial.

"Treat that prisoner the same as any other," Judge Latshaw ordered County Marshal Maves. "Give him a few privileges and no luxuries."

"I will file a motion for a new trial and will then take an appeal," said Frank P. Walsh, chief counsel for Dr. Hyde.

The verdict came unexpectedly. Every attorney in the case had given up hope of the jury, which had been out since Friday night, coming to an agreement. The news that a verdict had been reached spread rapidly and soon every available inch of the court room was occupied. The court ordered the marshal to arrest any one making a demonstration and the verdict was received in silence. The crowd heard it and then arose and trooped out of the room.

When the news of the verdict was telephoned to Mrs. Swope at Independence, she shrieked and dropped the receiver. She refused to make a statement.

It is the belief of the court attaches that the supreme court will be unable to reach Dr. Hyde's case for at least a year. In the meantime the prisoner may be kept in the county jail or sent to the state prison at Jefferson City.

The Missouri law prohibits the courts from admitting a convicted murderer to bail.

To Maude, the pet cat of Deputy Marshal Joe Stewart, which has one milk-white eye, the superstitious folk about the court house attribute Dr. Hyde's conviction. It is said that every accused murderer the cat has walked around in the last five years has been convicted. Last Friday, the 15th of the month, she circled Dr. Hyde three times.

"I knew he was doomed when I saw Maude go around him," said Stewart.

ANOTHER BIG GAS FIND

Another big find of gas has been made at Dayton, making the third gas well struck in that field, one of which, the Hammond well, has both gas and oil, additional to a good flow of artesian water. The discovery was made in a prospect well that is being drilled by Biglow, who brought in both of the formerly discovered gas producers. The well is the property of George Frisch, upon whose land the well is located. The discovery was made on Friday, the 13th, at two o'clock in the morning. For some reason the report was not sent to Roswell until Saturday night.

The drillers were down over 800 feet and had already found a small artesian water stream that flowed an inch and a half over the surface. When the drill passed through a hard carboniferous stratum the drillers noticed a sudden upheaval that threw the water high in the air. Then came the rush of gas, which caught fire with an explosion from a lantern, setting fire to the derrick. The rig was partly destroyed before the drillers could get control of the situation. The owner, who left the day before, on a death message, calling him to Nebraska, was telegraphed for instructions relative to the gas.

The new well is said to have a flow of gas from two to three times as great as the gas well of the Dayton Oil Company, which was the first one discovered and attracted so much attention. The Dayton well was brought in about a year and a half ago. The pressure in it has increased steadily since that time, now running between three and four hundred pounds to the square inch. The flow of the Dayton well is now great, however, being about sufficient to supply the town of Dayton. Pipe is on the ground to pipe this gas to Dayton, but has not been laid.

The second well is the Hammond well, which not only gives water to irrigate a big farm, but pumps about 24 barrels of oil per day. It has enough gas to run the pumping machinery.

The Giant Oil & Gas Company, of Roswell, is putting down a prospect well in the center of these locations which is now down 1,100 feet. This company owns land on three sides of the Frisch farm, where the new well is located and holds land all through the Dayton oil and gas field. The Frisch well will be lowered still deeper.

MR. CHASE AND MRS. OWENS ARE MARRIED.

A wedding in which the people of Roswell will take much interest owing to the prominence of the high contracting parties, was that of Mr. R. A. Chase and Mrs. Solon B. Owens, which occurred at eight o'clock Sunday morning. The wedding took place at the home of Elder George Fowler, on North Kentucky avenue, the only attendants being the aunt of the groom, Mrs. D. M. Downes, of North Pennsylvania avenue, and George T. Wilhelm, who stood up with the couple. The service was one of simple elegance. The couple were dressed in pearl gray traveling suits and drove from the manse to the station, where they left on the 8:35 train on their honeymoon trip to the East. The couple were accompanied by Mrs. Chase's two youngest daughters, Misses Annie and Tommie Owens, and they will spend most of the summer on Mr. Chase's farm at Ludlow, Vermont. Returning in the fall, they will make their home in Roswell.

the lake is practically bottomless, when Mr. Johnson "hung" a five pound bass. After worrying the fish for a while, he finally pulled it to the edge of the boat and reached over to pull it out of the water by the gill, when Mrs. Johnson also leaned over to see the big catch. With both of them on one side, the small boat capsized. Mrs. Johnson went completely under but Mr. Johnson held onto the edge of the inverted boat and remained with head and shoulders out of the water. Mrs. Johnson luckily came up within his reach and, was rescued after a hard struggle. Mrs. Johnson being unable to swim and both being hampered with their water-soaked clothing. Mr. Johnson lost his fine outfit of tackle, his minnow bucket and minnows and two nice bass he had already caught. Seeing his pole rushing through the water fifty yards away, he turned the boat right side up, rescued the oars and after a chase recaptured and landed the five pounder that had caused the trouble, leaving Mrs. Johnson for the time on a big rock.
